IT JOBS GROW MODESTLY; ENGINEERING EMPLOYMENT TICKS DOWN

Alexandria, VA, April 8, 2016 – The number of IT jobs grew 0.2 percent sequentially last month to 5,094,400, according to TechServe Alliance, the national trade association of the IT & Engineering Staffing and Solutions industry. On a year-over-year basis, IT employment grew by 3.9% since March 2015 adding 190,500 IT workers.

Engineering employment ticked down 0.05 percent sequentially to 2,528,200. On a year-over-year basis, engineering employment grew by an anemic 0.8% since March 2015 adding 20,200 engineering workers---continuing to underperform the overall workforce.

“While I would not characterize Q1 numbers as robust, IT employment continued to post steady growth in March. On the engineering side, employment ticked down modestly,” stated Mark Roberts, CEO of TechServe Alliance. “Many policymakers have noted that while there is still significant underlying strength in the US economy, all indicators are not uniformly positive. The same could be said for job growth in technical occupations particularly engineering," observed Roberts.

IT and engineering jobs are found in virtually every sector and industry in varying degrees. The following table presents information about the total number of jobs in certain sectors that provide a significant amount of employment for IT and engineering professionals.

Technical note: TechServe Alliance's IT Employment Index and Engineering Employment Index are the first specific measurements of IT and engineering employment. These unique measurements of total IT and engineering employment are created monthly by studying the ongoing staffing patterns of a dozen IT and computer related occupations in 22 industries and industry sectors employing significant numbers of IT workers and nearly two dozen engineering occupations in 30 select industries and industry sectors employing significant numbers of engineering workers. Both the monthly IT Employment and Engineering Employment Indices are based on U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) data, which is subject to monthly revisions, and is revised accordingly. Both indices were rebenchmarked in February with revisions going back several years. The next major revision will be published in February 2017. Additionally, from time-to-time TechServe Alliance reviews and adjusts the algorithm utilized to calculate the indices.
