IT JOBS GROWTH MODESTLY DECELERATES; ENGINEERING EMPLOYMENT REMAINS ANEMIC

Alexandria, VA, July 13, 2016 – The number of IT jobs grew 0.2 percent sequentially last month to 5,133,600, according to TechServe Alliance, the national trade association of the IT & Engineering Staffing and Solutions industry. On a year-over-year basis, IT employment grew by 3.7% since June 2015 adding 182,800 IT workers.

After coming in flat in May, Engineering employment in June posted growth of only 0.04 percent sequentially to 2,531,200. On a year-over-year basis, engineering employment grew by an anemic 0.6% since June 2015 adding 15,200 engineering workers.

“Despite the deceleration, the growth rate for IT employment on a year-over-year basis continues to outpace the overall workforce. On the engineering side, employment has been essentially flat the last two months,” stated Mark Roberts, CEO of TechServe Alliance. “In IT and even engineering, it is important to remember that all skill sets are not equal. There remains an acute shortage of talent in many high demand skill sets. Further, while demand has waned for some types of engineers given the headwinds being experienced by the industries that typically employ those skill sets, strong demand for technical talent in other industries continues unabated," observed Roberts.

IT and engineering jobs are found in virtually every sector and industry in varying degrees. The following table presents information about the total number of jobs in certain sectors that provide a significant amount of employment for IT and engineering professionals.

Technical note: TechServe Alliance's IT Employment Index and Engineering Employment Index are the first specific measurements of IT and engineering employment. These unique measurements of total IT and engineering employment are created monthly by studying the ongoing staffing patterns of a dozen IT and computer related occupations in 22 industries and industry sectors employing significant numbers of IT workers and nearly two dozen engineering occupations in 30 select industries and industry sectors employing significant numbers of engineering workers. Both the monthly IT Employment and Engineering Employment Indices are based on U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) data, which is subject to monthly revisions, and is revised accordingly. Both indices were rebenchmarked in February with revisions going back several years. The next major revision will be published in February 2017. Additionally, from time-to-time TechServe Alliance reviews and adjusts the algorithm utilized to calculate the indices.
